

BLOOD CALLS BLOOD

In a frontier town between the USA and Mexico, Sancho and his gang assault a monastery, kill a few monks who try to oppose the invasion of the sacred building, and go away with a precious loot, including the sacred custody, a work of art in gold and diamonds. Andrej, a lonesome cowboy, is informed of his brother's death – one of the monks – and starts a search for the gang, and to find who the murder of his brother was. Among the lawless and godless men, a fight for getting the better part of the loot is taking place – and blood is flowing as much as bullets. The infighting ends as Sancho kills his own second-in-command, and rests the only gangster alive, owner of the sacred, and valuable relic. It's then that Andrej confronts him, and once again blood calls to blood, before the precious loot can be returned to the surviving monks.

WESTERN / SPAGHETTI WESTERN

ORIGINAL TITLE	SANGUE CHIAMA SANGUE
COUNTRY	Italy
PRODUCTION YEAR	1968
RUNNING TIME	90' min.
LANGUAGE	Italian
DIRECTED BY	Luigi Capuano
CAST	Stephen Forsyth Fernando Sancho